

The 1st Molecular Biomedicine Workshop «Exploring Molecular Biomedicine: Research and Career Perspectives», organized by the MSc students of Molecular Biomedicine, was held at the Medical School of Athens, on December 19th, 2016 and was completed with great success. The Workshop brought together renowned scientists, PhD students, MSc graduates, and MSc students from various Life Sciences disciplines.

In the first session of the workshop, MSc graduates of the Molecular Medicine program presented some of their research work and talked about their motivation behind their decision to pursue a career in science. Similarly, during the second session, PhD graduates talked about their research interests and experiences. The Workshop culminated in a panel of renowned researchers during which a lively discussion between audience and panelists occurred. The subjects discussed ranged from career planning to research in Greece and abroad.

Everyone participating was very enthusiastic and left looking forward for the students' next workshop in the early summer.
